

Empowering law firms with advanced data-driven insights

In the high-stakes legal world, data is the new gold. With abundant information at their fingertips, law firms have an unprecedented opportunity to transform data into valuable insights. This data-driven innovation is not just an added advantage but a strategic necessity. It empowers firms to manage reputational and regulatory risks, streamline operations, deepen client relationships, stand out from the competition, and accelerate growth.

Having access to accurate, relevant, and timely information is crucial to achieving success. Moody's provides the insightful business intelligence you need to better understand who you are doing business with, what the risks of doing business with them are, and how to address these risks at scale.

Moody's offers an extensive range of data to support law firm operational functions including:

- Financial analysis
- New business intake
- Conflict checks/Onboarding
- International sanctions and AML compliance
- Corporate governance and responsibility
- Third-party due diligence and anti-fraud
- Cybersecurity
- Marketing and business development
- Information governance/Data management
- Library/Corporate research

Moody's assists client-facing advisory groups by providing crucial data insights that facilitate informed decision making:

- International tax and transfer pricing
- Global mergers and acquisitions
- Commercial real estate
- Library/Corporate research
- Restructuring and bankruptcy
- Intellectual property valuation

Leveraging its leading data capabilities, Moody's delivers comprehensive and precise analytics that fuel successful business outcomes:

Entity validation: Gain access to our robust and timely information on over 524 million private and public entities, with direct access to live business registries.

Financial evaluation: Discover company financials and industry leading, award winning financial risk metrics.

Risk management: Identify, analyze, and understand risk so decisions can be made with confidence.

In a complex legal landscape, our advanced and reliable data intelligence can help you uphold your firm's operational integrity, bolster your reputation and steer your practice towards a future of security, efficiency, and success.

Visit moody.com to learn more about our data-driven insights.